

MANAGEMENT TRAINEES

If you are young and dedicated to career progression, we have the right recognition for you in our organization.

Our Company

Jacobi Carbons Lanka (Private) Limited is a Sweden based BOI approved business entity in Sri Lanka. The parent company, Jacobi Carbons AB operates in 18 countries in worldwide including Germany, England, Finland, Switzerland, China, Malaysia, India and United States of America with the manufacturing facilities in 17 locations.

Jacobi Carbons AB is a proud member of the Japanese company Osaka Gas Chemicals.

Both these companies have a history of 100 years in business.

We produce coconut shell based activated carbon, and products are mainly used in purification processes by many top-level organizations worldwide.

A team player with the right attitude and passion for the role will be our ideal candidate who can support in the following responsibilities.

- Ensure environment, safety and health culture
- Managing the production operation / administrative functions or machine maintenance
- Maintain and drive required quality standards in relevant areas
- Process improvement, resources utilization in an effective manner, minimizing waste and losses
- Enhance system development to increase productivity levels
- Achieve the set production targets and sustainability goals

Qualifications and Experience

- Degree in Engineering / Production / Physical Science / Management or equivalent qualification in a recognized institution or Technical Collage or HND
- prior experience would be an added advantage
- Ability to take challenges and work with a positive mind
- Very good presentation and analytical skills
- Excellent communication skills coupled with strong interpersonal skills
- Candidates should demonstrate a strong enthusiasm for extracurricular activities

Please send your detailed CV together with contact details of two non-related referees within 07 days of this advertisement to careers@jacobi.net or mail to following address.

JACOBI CARBONS LANKA (PRIVATE) LIMITED
Talent Acquisition
"G" Estate, Wathugahamulla, Nattandiya.